On Valentine's Day weekend 2010, Cure JM will travel to Austin, Texas for their annual national educational forum and fundraising event. A team of Juvenile Myositis (JM) patients, their families and friends will run, walk and volunteer to raise funds for the fight against JM. JM, a painful and potentially deadly autoimmune disease, strikes children of all ages. Leading medical experts for this rare childhood disease will also attend and will present updates on treatment and research efforts. Cure JM Foundation is a 501c(3) nonprofit organization. As an all-volunteer group, nearly all money Cure JM raises goes toward disease research and awareness programs.

You can help Cure JM's mission in many ways ...
